

Did you know?

Different types of period products are available for your use.

Disposable options like Pads and tampons, and reusable alternatives such as menstrual cups, menstrual discs, period underwear and sea sponges, are all designed for managing menstrual flow, offering various levels of convenience, sustainability and body compatibility

How to choose

- Consider convenience, comfort and cost
- Tampons/cups/discs offer freedom for an active life, sports and perhaps a sustainable solution for longer term use.
- If leaks occur, its may be due to size or positioning. Try a different product or consult with a clinician if needed.

Did You Know? — Contraceptives

Birth Control Pills

- Did you know?
Birth control pills work best when taken at the same time every day. In addition to preventing pregnancy, some pills can also help with lighter periods, more regular cycles, and reduced menstrual cramps.

Birth Control Patch

- Did you know?
The birth control patch is changed once a week, making it a convenient option for people who don't want to remember a daily pill.

Birth Control Ring

- Did you know?
The vaginal ring is placed for three weeks and removed for one week, providing month-long pregnancy protection with minimal routine maintenance.

Hormonal IUD

- Did you know?
A hormonal IUD can work for 3–8 years, depending on the type. Many people experience lighter periods or no periods at all over time.

Copper IUD

- Did you know?

The copper IUD contains no hormones and can prevent pregnancy for up to 10 years. It can also be used as emergency contraception if placed shortly after sex.

Birth Control Shot

- Did you know?

The birth control shot is given once every three months, making it a low-maintenance option. Some people may notice changes in their menstrual cycle while using it.

Birth Control Implant

- Did you know?

The implant is a small, flexible rod placed in the upper arm and provides protection for up to 3 years. You don't have to think about contraception daily or monthly.

Condoms

- Did you know?

Condoms are the only contraceptive method that helps protect against sexually transmitted infections (STIs) when used correctly.

Emergency Contraception

- Did you know?

Emergency contraception can help prevent pregnancy after unprotected sex and works best when taken as soon as possible.

Choosing the Right Method

- Did you know?

There is no single “best” birth control option. The right method depends on health needs, lifestyle, comfort, and personal preferences.